ALLIED SHIPS THREATEN TO FIRE ON SMYRNA

Association Urges Boulevard Built Through Patterson Park

IMPROVEMENT FOR MOTORISTS ALSO HELPS REALTY VALUATIONS

New Highway Would Assist In Bringing Traffic to Brand Boulevard

THE Brand Boulevard Improvement Association met last night at 110 West Broadway in the office of Charles B. Guthrie and discussed several matters of civic importance.

After some discussion, recommendation was made that a street through Patterson park, which connects with the west end of Burchett street, be made into a boulevard and widened to forty feet.

Attorney Mattison B. Jones of 2001 Kenneth road presided as president of the organization and C. B. Guthrie of 1641 Grand View was in attendance as its secretary.

Attorney Jones called attention to the fact that the improvement of this link through the park would make it possible for motorists from the Grand View district to come down Grand View road to San Fernando road and then over Burchett street to Brand boulevard. He stated that, if motorists are obliged to turn into Patterson avenue at the park, they will continue on Patterson avenue to Central and then will go south on Central avenue—avoiding Brand boulevard altogether.

"What we are all anxious for," remarked Mr. Jones, "is to get them over to Brand boulevard."

Needs Quick Action

H. S. Burn of 108 North Maryland avenue asserted that the road has already been mapped out through the park and that widening it would be a simple matter. He said that this improvement should be taken up at once, however, before landscape gardening along the right of way proved an obstruction.

"I don't believe that the boulevard ought to go through the park," said Hal H. Davenport of 1262 South Brand boulevard. "This park was bought with the people's money. The park is for all the people. Mothers can take their children there. If you have a main boulevard traveling the

'LITTLE PHIL' ON U. S. SOIL AGAIN

Alleged Slayer Taken From Boat; Will Be Brought To L. A. for Trial

ANGLETON, Texas, Feb. 8.—"Little Phil" Alguin, alleged murderer of Detective Sergeant Fitzgerald in Los Angeles, today was on American soil following his deportation from Mexico by the Obregon government as an undesirable citizen.

Heavily shackled, Alguin was landed shortly before noon from the steamer Freeport Number 6 on which he was deported from Tampico, Mexico, following his arrest there. He was immediately placed in the county jail here. It is expected that he will be taken to Houston this afternoon, and lodged in the Harris county jail to await extradition proceedings by the governor of California.

As he stepped from the boat to United States soil, Alguin, who yesterday was in an ugly mood that resulted in his being placed in irons aboard ship, apparently had recovered his good spirits and while awaiting transportation to the county jail he chatted gaily with newspapermen and detectives.

Although the ship on which Alguin was brought from Tampico slid into her dock shortly after 6 o'clock this morning, it was not for several hours that the prisoner was landed. He was met by a virtual "army of occupation" of newspaper reporters and detectives who had camped about the landing place

Proclamation

THE Boy Scouts of America, an organization chartered by act of the Congress of the United States and devoted to the welfare of boys and the making of good citizens, is this week entering upon its thirteenth anniversary.

In common with other observing citizens, I believe that the program of the Boy Scouts of America reveals the way, quickens the pace and illuminates the path that leads to true and noble citizenship among our boys.

It is fitting, therefore, that we, at this time, give due recognition to this great organization.

I, therefore, do hereby recommend the period marking the thirteenth anniversary of the founding of the Boy Scout movement in America, February 8 to 14, be observed in this city as "Boy Scout Week," and I strongly urge every man, woman and child in the community, for that period at least, adopt the Boy Scout habit of "doing a good turn" to some one each day. I further recommend that all citizens of this commonwealth become familiar with the spiritual and chivalrous quality of the Scout oath:

"On my honor, I will do my best;

"One—To do my duty to God and my country, and to obey the Scout law;

"Two—To help other people at all times;

Three—To keep myself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight."

SPENCER ROBINSON,
Mayor of Glendale.

13TH ANNIVERSARY OF SCOUTS WILL BE CELEBRATED

Finish of Ceremonies Will Be Presentation of Badges Sunday

Plans that have been prepared to celebrate the thirteenth anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America, that occurs today, have been announced by the officials of the Verdugo Hills district council, and the activities incident to the celebration will last from today, when Mayor Spencer Robinson will be raised to the rank of Second Class Scout, until Sunday evening, February 11, when the merit badges will be presented to the winners at the First Congregational church.

Mayor Given New Degree

Mayor Spencer Robinson will be officially sworn in as an Honorary Second Class Scout when the local Boy Scouts will meet this afternoon at the city hall. Last year the mayor was taken into the organization as an Honorary Tenderfoot Scout, but since then he has attended the summer camp at Catalina and, according to the Scouts, "he made good," so they have decided to advance him one degree and invest on him the second class rank. The investiture service will be in charge of Scout Commissioner Charles L. Chandler.

Parent and Scout Banquet

A monster "parent and scout" banquet will be held at the new Congregational church, Friday evening, February 9. Every Scout is to be host to his mother and dad. Each troop will have its own table which will be decorated by a special committee. A prize will be given for the best decorated table.

Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson, accompanied by Mrs. Porter Custer, will lead the Scouts and their parents in some lively songs. Rev. Charles M. Calderwood will give the invocation. Scout Commissioner Charles L. Chandler will make the address of welcome. The Boy Scout orchestra will play some of the latest musical hits. It is planned to have everybody take part in the program and enjoy themselves to the fullest extent.

Walter Wescott to Talk

Walter Wescott, who holds the honor of being the first Eagle Scout in California, will be the speaker of the evening. He is president of the Student Body of the University of California, Southern Branch, and in addition

PREDICT PASSAGE OF DEBT TREATY IN TEN DAYS

Poll of Congress Reveals Majority in Favor of Prompt Enactment

By WM. K. HUTCHINSON
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Congressional ratification within ten days of the Anglo-American agreement for refunding the $4,600,000,000 British war debt was the aim of administration leaders today as a result of President Harding's appeal for an early settlement.

An unofficial poll of both house and senate, according to administration leaders, revealed there was a preponderance of votes for enactment of the bill which authorizes settlement of the debt on the terms negotiated by commissioners of the two governments.

In the house, there was every indication the measure would be passed without serious opposition and even without prolonged debate. In the senate, however, there was a growing feeling of opposition among members of the "farm bloc" and from a faction of Democrats.

The debt bill, sponsored in the house by Representative Burton, Republican, of Ohio, one of the American commissioners, will pass before the end of this week or early next week, it was said. With considerable debate expected in the senate, the measure probably will not be finally enacted before the end of next week. It will be championed in the senate by Senator Smoot, Republican, Utah, also a debt commissioner.

Opposition Looms

The senate finance committee met today on a call from Chairman McCumber, Republican, North Dakota, and was to take up the Smoot bill for consideration.

While administration leaders expected to obtain considerable support from the Democratic membership of both house and senate there will also be stubborn opposition from Democratic senators. Senator McKellar, of Tennessee, and Heflin, Alabama, probably will lead this opposition, McKellar stating today he would "fight the settlement to the finish."

Members of the senate "farm bloc" were luke-warm in their opinion of the settlement. Senator Capper, Republican, Kansas, chairman of the bloc; Ladd, Republican, North Dakota, and Norris, Republican, Nebraska, members, announced they had not yet reached a decision on whether they should support it.

The G. A. R. has lost thirteen comrades by death, the W. R. C. eight members and the Sons of Veterans one member.

Chaplain Rev. C. R. Norton of the N. P. Banks post, G. A. R., will preside over the service and T. M. Barrett, commander of the post, will give the memorial address and there will be brief talks by representatives from the Sons and Daughters of Veterans.

State's Agricultural Products For 1922 Set New Tonnage Mark; Outlook For This Year Greater

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 8.—California's agricultural products reached the greatest tonnage in 1922 in the history of the state, according to the biennial report of Director G. H. Hecke of the state department of agriculture, submitted to Governor Friend W. Richardson.

The total value of farm products during the year was placed at $397,820,000 which represents an increase of $54,000,000 over the preceding year.

Field crops produced in 1922 amounted to 8,136,734 tons. The total value to the grower was $183,722,000.

Fruit production for the year was approximately 2,774,144 tons, valued to the grower at $194,810,000.

Cantaloupes and vegetables had a total value of $19,288,000.

Hecke, in his comment on the agricultural outlook, declared that 1923 will in all probability see a far greater yield than that of last year.

THREATS AGAINST FOREIGN CRAFT BLUFF, CLAIM

Turks Fail to Take Action When Time Limit Expires; Mines in Harbors

BULLETIN

SMYRNA, Feb. 8.—The Turkish military authorities today extended another twenty-four hours the time limit of the ultimatum ordering allied warships to withdraw from the harbor. The new time limit will expire at sunset tonight. It was explained that the extension was granted pending orders from Angora. There are indications that the original order may be either modified or rescinded.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 8.—In spite of the allies' disregard of the thirty-six hour ultimatum of the Turks ordering all warships to depart from Smyrna harbor, the Turks failed to fire upon the war craft when the time limit expired, said a dispatch from that city today.

Allied officials believe that the Turks were bluffing and that the Angora government is preparing to back down. There are a number of British and French warships in the Smyrna harbor.

The allied high command said that instead of withdrawing the warcraft, reinforcements would be sent.

Mustapha Kemal Pasha, head of the Angora national assembly and commander-in-chief of the Turkish army, has left for Angora to assume direct command of the troops.

It is reported here that the entrance to the Smyrna harbor was mined by the Turks shortly after the Mudania armistice. The mines are submerged to be exploded from the shore.

British officials are gratified that Premier Poincare took the initiative in warning the Turks after Angora made known its demand. They say that indicates Anglo-French unity in the Near East.

U. S. PROTESTS AT TURK ORDER TO QUIT HARBOR

Threat of Bombardment Not Seriously Taken; Foreign War Craft Remain

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 8.—United States warships in Turkish waters will continue their station there and take no part in the dispute between the Turkish and allied governments, which has brought threats of bombardment, it was announced officially here today. The cruiser, Pittsburgh, the converted yacht Scorpion, and twenty destroyers are there.

By LUTHER A. HUSTON
For International News Service

LONDON, Feb. 8.—The representative of the United States at Smyrna has joined the allies in a protest against the Turkish order that all foreign warships must leave Smyrna harbor, according to information received by the British foreign office from Constantinople this afternoon.

Great Britain regards the situation at Smyrna as more serious because of the beliggerent attitude of the Turks.

Admiral Nicholson of the British navy has arrived at Smyrna on the British warship, Curacao, to consult with the Turkish commander.

It is understood that the order for withdrawal of the warships from Smyrna was issued by the Turkish chief of staff and not by the national assembly at Angora as first reported.

The Turkish chief of staff has been on a tour of the country inspecting the military defenses, and he issued the now famous order just after leaving Smyrna. The allies have communicated with Angora in an effort to reach the Turkish officer, but he was not in that city.

The order still stands, but the allies are not heeding it. A dispatch from Constantinople said that Smyrna was quiet. The Turks, the telegram added, were not trying to enforce the withdrawal order.

Uncle John Says:

One of the nice things about livin' in Glendale is that you see so many folks from back home. Hardly a week passes but we entertain friends from Springfield. Of course, everybody that comes to California wants to see Glendale, the fastest growin' city in the United States, that they have heard so much about and then when they get here they look up their old friends. Mary says she's always proud to have the folks from Springfield see Glendale.

EAGLE ROCK LOSES RIGHT TO COLLECT BRIDGE FINES

City Cannot Enforce State Highway Rule of 15 Miles, Is Court Decision

ONE man questioned the authority of Eagle Rock officers to enforce the state highway commission's regulation of fifteen mile speed across bridges.

He won, invalidating the commission's right to superimpose itself as a legislative body, and every person who was arrested for speeding across the little bridge in the eastern end of Eagle Rock was penalized illegally.

In other words, the city of Eagle Rock has mulcted many motorists through its traffic officers and city recorder's court and it is doubtful if the city is in financial position to repay the many who were trapped traveling across the bridge in question, it is declared.

Fred F. McLain was the man arrested. He admitted traveling faster than the fifteen-mile limit prescribed by the Highway Commission, and in order to make a test of the commission's order limiting the speed on certain bridges below that authorized by the Motor Vehicle Act, sought his release from custody of Sheriff Traeger on a petition for a writ of habeas corpus.

The decision accompanying the order discharging McLain from custody is considered of far-reaching effect, as it virtually nullifies any speed regulation made by the Highway Commission which is in any way at variance with the maximum speed limit established by law.

The decision, which was written by Associate Justice Waste, and concurred in by the other members of the court, pointed out two reasons for nullifying the speed regulations.

"Viewed as an attempt to legislate concerning the rate of speed for vehicles over the bridge, as part of the highway, the declaration of the commission was without authority, and void. Accepted as a rule or regulation for vehicles using the bridge, the statute has fixed no penalty for its violation," said the decision.

It is said that a large number of Glendale people have paid fines for "speeding" over the bridge, but just what they will do about that now is something else again.

Meanwhile, that bridge of fines may become Eagle Rock's "bridge of sighs."

LEGION WILL BE POMONA'S GUESTS

Glendale Post Will Assist in Conferring Degree on Candidates

Glendale Legionnaires are to journey to Pomona on Tuesday, February 13, to be guests of the Pomona Legion post and to confer the initiatory degree on a group of Pomona candidates. The invitation was extended to the Glendale men last week and they sent their acceptance yesterday.

Glendale post officials and a group of members will make the trip. Chalmer Day, commander, will lead the staff in the initiation.

The Glendale men are to hold their regular meeting tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Legion hall on East Broadway. Commander Day is urging a record attendance and has asked all the post members to invite all ex-service men in Glendale whether they are members of the Legion or not. A worthwhile attendance prize is to be offered.

Man Dangles From Sign; Rescued by Fire Department

CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—Hundreds of persons stood transfixed at one of the busiest corners in Chicago today as they watched a man dangling from a giant sign in front of the Chicago theatre.

He was struggling, head downward, from the letter C.

The man, Edwin Wagner, 40, weighing more than 200 pounds, had fallen about forty feet from his rope chair while making repairs on the letters of the sign.

As he was plunging downwards toward the canopy, Wagner had the presence of mind to kick out a foot. He caught in on a rope. By twisting his leg he managed to get the rope securely around his ankle.

The fire department was summoned and Wagner was rescued.

H. S. WEBB TELLS ABOUT HIS TRIP THROUGH EAST

Glendale Business Man at Home Says Everybody Is Talking California

New York, Chicago, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Washington, Atlanta and other eastern centers all prosperous.

Cotton growers of the South holding for 35 cent cotton; domestic goods almost unobtainable.

No such things as exclusive styles any more, there being thousands of copies being made in New York of every Paris creation.

Everybody in the east is talking about California and all are planning to come here.

New York is money mad, being strictly commercial in every sense of the word.

Those are a few random thoughts expressed by H. S. Webb of the H. S. Webb Co., Glendale, who returned last evening from a month's trip to New York and other eastern points. He established an office in the eastern metropolis and made arrangements for large purchases of goods to fill his store here, also to make ready for the opening of the greater Webb store on North Brand boulevard in the next ninety days.

Mr. Webb left Glendale via Los Angeles on January 10, visiting San Antonio, Houston, New Orleans and other points south. Texas should be known, he said, for its timber as well as its oil. Atlanta, the gateway to the south, gave him an insight in the cotton situation where cotton factors expect the shortage in the crop will force the price to 35 cents and make domestic goods again reach war prices.

"Really, I felt patriotic when I saw what a clean city Washington, D. C., our national capital, is," said Mr. Webb. Baltimore and Philadelphia are filled with factory districts and congested population. Everywhere I went there is that similar desire to get to California, although everybody is employed and satisfied with business conditions.

"It seems strange to find the beautiful style creations coming from the twenty to thirty-story loft buildings of New York, and certainly there are no exclusive creations any more. Copies are made immediately after they come from Paris. The metropolis is strictly a commercial center where buyers of imported goods and ideas gather."

Mr. Webb paid high tribute to Rotary service in aiding him in the establishment of a New York office. He is satisfied that his store here will be able to present the people of Glendale with the very latest styles and carry the most representative stock of goods obtainable.

Indeed, the trip, including the stopovers at Chicago and San Francisco, were most enjoyable, and with regard to the Rotary clubs, more will be found in the report of their meeting.

READY TO BOMBARD CITY IF ATTACK SHOULD COME FROM SHORE

Turks Only Bluffing in Their Threat to Sink Craft, Belief in Britain

BULLETIN

ATHENS, Feb. 8.—Commanders of the allied warships in the harbor at Smyrna have warned the Turkish commander they will bombard the city if the Turkish shore batteries fire upon the warships, said advices from Smyrna today.

BULLETIN

MALTA, Feb. 8.—The British superdreadnaught Resolution and Emperor of India have joined the British fleet in Turkish waters and are "within easy call," if their services are required at Smyrna, the British authorities at Smyrna, here today.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—Failure of the Turks to fire upon warships in Smyrna harbor is explained today by the Turkish military authorities who state that another twenty-four hours will be given the foreign craft to depart.

However, the allied leaders declare the Turks are bluffing and that the government is preparing to retreat from its defiant stand.

More war craft are being hurried by Great Britain to Turkish waters.

Dispatches from Constantinople declared that Smyrna is quiet today.

Admiral Nicholson of the British navy has arrived at Smyrna to consult with Turk leaders.

U. S. Ships to Stay

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 8.—The United States warships in Turkish waters will not be withdrawn, it was announced here officially today.

The Turkish order for allied warships to leave the harbor is not interpreted here as referring to the American destroyers now on duty there. Officials said the Angora government was fully cognizant that the small force of American naval strength in Turkish waters was there on peaceful business and the Turkish ultimatum was construed by officials as referring only to the larger war vessels of the allied powers.

Fear No Difficulty

The Pittsburgh and thirteen of the destroyers were at Constantinople, one destroyer, the Edsall, was at Smyrna and the other six were scattered at various ports, according to last reports received at the navy department here. The Pittsburgh is Admiral Long's flagship, Admiral Long being the ranking American official in that region during the absence of Admiral Mark Bristol at the Lausanne conference.

Officials declared they anticipated no difficulty between the Angora and allied governments that could possibly involve the American warships.

The destroyers were sent over last November to assist in refugee work and rendered notable service in this regard.

ORGANIZATION DECIDES PRESENT POLICY OF PAYMENT PROVES BEST

Different Method Would Result In Raise of Water Rates, Official Announces

THE GLENDALE EXCHANGE CLUB, which met yesterday noon in the dining room of the Citizens' Building, came to the conclusion that it would be better to retain the $30 charge of the installation of water meter and service rather than have this fee reduced and the water rate increased.

R. E. Johnston of 444 South San Fernando road, chairman of the civics committee, read the following communication on the subject from Peter Diederich, superintendent of the municipal water department:

"As per your request, I am setting forth certain information as to the reason why the city of Glendale is making a $30 service installation charge for water meters.

"The city of Glendale operated for several years without making a service and meter charge and at the time this charge was started the department was in very bad financial condition. We were at one time about $60,000 in debt and our credit was exhausted.

"At first, the City Council made the charge $22 for service and meter installation and operated under this charge for some time. On checking over the accounts, found that this account showed a deficiency. So this charge was raised to $30 and, since operating at this rate, we find that it just about covers the cost.

"The water system was purchased, as you know, from private owners, who had formerly installed it just to sell off realty holdings and was never designed to serve as a unit system for the whole city nor were the pipes or equipment of much value only as a business.

"The water department in a city like ours with the population increasing so rapidly has demands for large amounts of new capital to take care of many improvements which are necessary to furnish good and continued service. I believe that I am properly quoting the City Council that it was their opinion at the time of making these installation rates that same should be charged to the person or property receiving the benefit from that service.

$35,000 Annual Cost

"At the rate service connections have been installed for the last eighteen months, it has required $35,000 annually to do this work or one-sixth of our annual income of the water department. If this money for the service and meter installation should not be received from parties benefited, then the same would have to be obtained through rates for water used or bonds issued. If the same were taken out of the revenue, then rates would have to be raised; if procured through a bond issue, water users would eventually pay double the cost by the time principal and interest were paid.

"You requested, also, information as to why services were not installed ahead of paving to prevent the tearing up of our improved streets. I heartily agree with the merit of the suggestion that this should be done but my experience and the information that I have obtained from superintendents of other water systems in this vicinity as yet have not been able to work this out to overcome the objections, which are as follows:

"The service pipe installed and unused accumulates dead water and this dead water soon blackens and causes rust and shortens the life of the pipe to a very few years if unused. Also, another very serious objection is that the large number of service pipes that would be extended along a main and the same being unused naturally some of this stagnate and unused water would be continually coming back into the main and the same would be objectionable for domestic use.

"The investment required to install these pipes is another question to be solved. If the work is done under the street proceedings act, same could be assessed against the property but, where streets are improved by private contractors for the subdivider, they do not want to carry any additional investment.

Find No Solution

"This subject at various times has been discussed at water works' conventions and, up to the present time, I do not know of a satisfactory solution.

"However, we are watching all new plans for water main installations on improved streets very closely and on streets where the same are nearly all built up except a few vacant lots, we install the services in the curb line.

"We are forcing with water most of our service pipes under the improved streets and only make an opening of about two feet by six inches for each service near the curb line.

"Last summer in the improvement of Brand boulevard from Colorado street to Windsor road we installed services on this street as nearly as we could judge the needs at the present time. I have no doubt that the future will bring a class of buildings on this street that very possibly some services will undoubtedly have to be installed to take care of the unforeseen condition."

In Other Communities

The facts gleaned from a questionnaire on the subject sent out to a number of nearby communities having municipal water works were read by Mr. Johnston.

Water rates charged by these cities are as follows:

Long Beach—First 1,000 cubic feet, $1.50; next 4,000, $1 per 1,000.

Pasadena—Minimum of $1.05 for 500 cubic feet; excess ten cents per 100.

San Diego—Fifteen cents per 100 cubic feet.

Santa Barbara—Ten cents per 100 for first 1,000 cubic feet; fifteen cents per 100 for the next 3,000 cubic feet.

Fullerton—First 5,000 gallons, $1; excess, ten cents per 1,000 gallons.

Anaheim—First 750 cubic feet $1; ten cents per 100 cubic feet thereafter.

Ontario—First 700 cublic feet, $1.33; excess $1 per thousand.

Santa Monica—Fifteen cents per 100 cubic feet up to 2,000; ten cents per 100 above.

Redlands—First 2,000 cubic feet nine cents; over 2,000 feet, eight cents per 100.

Alhambra—Minimum $1 for 800 cubic feet; excess ten cents per 100.

Charges for Meters

Meter charges were admitted as follows:

Long Beach—$15 for three-quarter inch pipe; $20 for one inch pipe.

Pasadena—$20 for three-quarter inch pipe; $25 for one inch pipe.

San Diego—$30 for three-quarter inch pipe; $38 for five-eighth inch pipe.

Santa Barbara—from $9 to $15.

Fullerton—$15.

Anaheim—$11 for three-quarter inch pipe; $16.60 for one inch pipe. A charge of $5 is added for cutting the pavement.

Ontario—$25.

Santa Monica—$15 for three-quarter inch pipe; $18.50 for one inch pipe and $30 for inch and a half pipe.

Riverside—House service, $10.

Redlands—$10 for three-quarter inch pipe; $12.50 for one inch pipe; $22.50 for two inch pipe.

Alhambra—$12 for three quarter inch pipe; $15 for inch pipe.

All of these cities asserted that none of these fees were returnable.

Give Replies

The question, "Do you make a service to the parkway of each lot at the time pipes are laid" brought affirmative answers from Pasadena, Santa Barbara and Anaheim and negative replies from San Diego, Fullerton, Ontario, Santa Monica, Riverside and Alhambra.

Asked as to whether they considered such a plan feasible, officials from the following cities replied in the affirmative. Long Beach, Pasadena, Santa Barbara, Fullerton and Anaheim. Ontario, Santa Monica, Redlands and Alhambra replied in the negative.

With the two exceptions of Santa Monica and Alhambra, all of the cities admitted that they have difficulty in getting the paving replaced satisfactorily.

OCCIDENTAL FIVE MEETS REDLANDS ON L. A. COURT

Tigers Out to Redeem Loss Suffered in Last Two Games Played

The Occidental Tiger varsity quintet will be pitted against the Redlands Bulldogs at Franklin High, Los Angeles, next Saturday evening, February 10. Coach "Doc" Haslett of the Occidentals has been putting his men through a course of severe training and confidently expects to redeem in a measure the percentage lost in the last two games.

Pomona took the contest from Occidental last week in good style with the result that they are more determined than ever to make the proper showing at the Saturday night game. They will have their hands full, says their coach, but expect to acquit themselves in good style.

The Bulldogs have pulled through the season with but one defeat so far, and that was administered by the Golden Cubs. They have defeated Pomona, Whittier and Calteck.

The Oxy peagreeners, who have so far cleaned every team they have come in contact with, will uphold their reputation when they furnish the appetizer in the struggle with Franklin High quintet. Their game will be called at 8:00 and the Varsities will take the floor one hour later.

for several hours awaiting his appearance.

Alguin was finally brought forth in custody of Lee Manning, United States immigration inspector, and a special deputy sheriff from Los Angeles representing the state of California. A corps of Houston, Texas police headed by their chief, Tom Goodson, J. A. Stevenson, chief of police of Galveston, Texas, and his men, and a number of federal officers awaiting the little prisoner.

Early elaborate plans by civil authorities to take "Little Phil" from the ship as it passed quarantine and put him in a specially chartered launch were frustrated when immigration officials refused to let it be carried out.

As soon as Alguin's feet touched land United States immigration authorities relinquished their claims to his custody and he was turned over to the civil authorities. Although he talked freely on other subjects, he refused to discuss the charges against him.

ROTARIANS HEAR FROM STRAY ONES

H. S. Webb One of Glendale Members Who Tells of Experiences Away

From distant parts Glendale Rotarians were "at home" this noon to tell their fellow members of this, that and the other thing.

The luncheon was attended by several visitors, including several members of the newly organized Burbank club.

H. S. Webb, department store owner, told members informally of Rotary service as it aided him in the establishment of a New York office.

"The New York club has 500 classifications represented in its membership," said Mr. Webb, "and there were 200 visitors present the day I attended. Their headquarters offers every service to the stranger in town.

"In Chicago I found the same to be true and was among 80 visitors attending the club with 450 members. Eddie Rickenbacker was among those present and I took especial care to shake hands with Paul P. Harris, president emeritus and founder of Rotary Interntaional," Mr. Webb told the Glendale members.

Second to Chicago

"In San Francisco, where I attended, there are 365 members, it being second in age to Chicago. Truly, it is a great service encircling the globe," said Mr. Webb, "for I traveled 8000 miles across the continent and return and was able to keep up my weekly attendance record."

Gil A. Cowan of The Glendale Evening News staff, who returned from the state capital, also was greeted. Rotarians heard a report on the Burbank club being organized also.

Congressman Osborne is one of the most widely known men in California public life. He was re-elected at the last primary election by an overwhelming majority.

ELECTION NECESSARY BEFORE L. A. CAN ANNEX EAGLE ROCK

Opinion of City Attorney Spreads Dismay Among Ranks of Annexationists

A new angle to the annexation question has been injected into the situation by the opinion of City Attorney McNitt, who says that before Eagle Rock can be annexed to Los Angeles the question must be submitted to the voters of that city.

"This cannot be done," stated Mr. McNitt, "before the June election in Los Angeles this year."

Mr. McNitt says the constitutional amendment passed at the general election in California last November covers the case in question. Before that time it required only the passage of a resolution by the city council of Los Angeles favorable to annexation, to make the matter legal. Under the old order of things a vote favorable to annexation by the city desiring to be annexed and a favorable resolution by the council of the city annexing, was all that was necessary.

"Many residents of Eagle Rock are of the opinion that by Eagle Rock voting to go into Los Angeles, the matter is settled," said Ben B. Martsolf, city clerk, in discussing the question this morning. "But as this is a matter that directly or indirectly affects every resident of the city, the board of trustees instructed the city attorney to make an exhaustive study of the question."

Citizens Divided

The opinion of Attorney McNitt was rendered after looking up all points of law bearing on the subject.

The question of whether or not Eagle Rock would annex to Los Angeles has been a subject of much interest and discussion in Eagle Rock for some months. After many weeks' preparation the petitions bearing on the subject were presented in due form.

ORGANIZE BUREAU OF EMPLOYMENT FOR STUDENTS

Occidental College Plans to Help Pupils Pay School Expenses

Occidental college now has a full-fledged employment service under the direction of Jerome Lindquist. The service was created by President Bird just prior to the close of the last semester, when he recognized the need of a systematic effort in supplying jobs to numerous students who wished to pay part of their expense while attending the institution.

In the past it has been a hard matter for the student to find a job and equally hard for the person who had work for the student to connect with the individual who wanted the place. It is hoped the new arrangement will do away with this handicap, says Mr. Lindquist.

Last semester, according to Mr. Lindquist, the college had numerous calls for students for light work that could be done out of school hours, and many students were anxious to work but could find nothing to do. By the system recently installed, it is hoped that this trouble will be eliminated and the job hunting student and the prospective employer can be brought together.

Will Advertise Jobs

The new employment bureau will advertise for jobs for the students in the local papers of the small towns that surround the college. Personal solicitation will also be featured. All students wanting work will be listed and a record of the kind of work they care to do will be kept at the agency; also the hours they will be able to devote to this. Each student will be asked to report to the agency after a job is completed and an investigation of his services will be made.

The value of the plan is evident. It will afford a means of quick communication between the employer and student and in keeping a record of the work having been done, be able to recommend students who will do the work in a satisfactory manner.

Will Widen Scope

While the main features at this time is to furnish students with temporary employment, it is the intention next spring to enlarge the scope somewhat and find, if possible, steady work for students during the summer months.

This innovation has been needed for some time, says Mr. Lindquist, and its establishment means much to the students and should be of benefit to the community. The employment service is now in full operation. Students desiring work should register with the manager at once.

The approximate area of the continent of North America is 8,300,000 square miles.

LAST RITES FOR DECEASED MASON

Impressive Ritual Is Used At Funeral Service of 'Dad' Ravenscroft

"Friend, brother, Sir Knight and our Dad, farewell, and may your rising sun be bright," was the adieu taken yesterday afternoon of Charles H. Ravenscroft by brother Masons, Knights Templar, family and friends in Forest Lawn cemetery, where Prelate Oscar E. Von Oven of the Glendale Commandery, Knights Templar, impressively conducted the burial office of the order.

Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock at the First Methodist church and the crowded auditorium and profusion of floral pieces were indicative of the high esteem in which Mr. Ravenscroft was held in Glendale and in his former home in New Albany, Ind.

Preceding the hour for the service a group of organ numbers were given by Don C. Lindley. As the company of friends arrived they were seated in the north and south sections of seats, the central section being reserved for Knights Templar and Masons, who filed into the auditorium shortly before 2 o'clock in full Templar uniform or wearing Masonic regalia.

Mason for 34 Years

Mr. Ravenscroft's life represented over thirty-four years' affiliation with the Masonic order and the highest tribute was accorded his memory yesterday, when Glendale witnessed one of the most impressive Masonic funeral ceremonies ever held in the city.

Linking the deceased's friendships and Masonic associations in his former home, New Albany, Ind., with those in Glendale, were the presence at his funeral of Charles Day of Hollywood, who was grand commander of the state of Indiana, when Mr. Ravenscroft became a Knight, and of Dr. W. B. Collins, who was pastor of the church Mr. and Mrs. Ravenscroft attended in New Albany thirty years ago.

It was this old association that brought to Mr. Ravenscroft's wife and daughter the desire that Dr. Collins represent the church at the funeral services.

Masonry's Final Goal

In recalling the days gone by and the years that have followed, Dr. Collins took for his subject, "A Man and a Mason." He took the words manhood and Masonry as synonymous and brought the message to his hearers that the highest a man can give is to be developed in the ideals of Masonry.

He emphasized immortality as the final goal of Masonry and in paying tribute to Mr. Ravenscroft's memory he said "He was a man, a Mason and a Christian."

The prayer was offered by Dr. Henry I. Rasmus, pastor of the church.

There was only one song during the service, "The End of the Way," sung by Dr. Joseph Marple.

It was the request of Mr. Ravenscroft some months ago that upon his passing Charles L. Peckham, past commander of the Glendale Commandery, Knights Templar, should conduct his funeral service. Upon learning of the death of Mr. Ravenscroft Monday Mr. Peckham returned from a business trip in the north to fulfill his friend's wish.

Assisting him were Prelate Oscar E. Von Oven, and Warders William W. Worley and Sidney S. Gilhuly.

Impressive solemnity and beauty of thought mark the ritual of the order and the perfect rhythm of the entire service was, indeed, a beautiful tribute to Charles Ravenscroft.

Floral Tributes

Expressive of the high regard of friends near and far were the numerous floral pieces that banked the chancel. There were great pieces fashioned from California's choicest flowers into the insignia of the various Masonic orders, sent by organizations in Glendale and in New Albany. In addition, there were countless pieces bearing personal cards.

Pallbearers were William W. Worley and Charles Day, Knights Templar; Thomas J. Carter and Dale O. Pete of the Royal Arch Masons; Dwight W. Stephenson and Newton Van Why of the Masonic Blue Lodge.

The members of the guard of honor were Roy V. Hogue, Daniel Campbell, Mattison B. Jones, Robert M. Grumbling and Charles Day.

Mr. Ravenscroft's death occurred Monday at the Glendale Research hospital, where he had been seriously ill for a week.

He had been a resident of Glendale for nine years, during which time he had served as custodian of the Masonic Temple.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Anna Ravenscroft, and his daughter, Mrs. Lawrence Ellis, and a grandson, Charles Ellis of San Jose.

The Jewel City Udertakinn company was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

VALENTINO'S ACT PROVES FLIVVER

Idol of Flappers Fails to Draw Detroit Crowds, Says Impresario

DETROIT, Feb. 8.—Rodolph Valentino, "idol of all flapperdom," and Carl Fischer, proprietor of a ball room here, where the "perfect lover" is doing his two-a-day this week, are on the outs.

Fischer is on the war path, principally because he fears losing $15,000 because the reputed popularity of Valentino has proved to be nearly nil in Detroit. Fischer is enraged because he is not allowed to enter the suite occupied by Valentino and his dancing partner, Miss Hudnut, for which Fischer is paying $600 a week.

"Several years ago I was a house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Bliss," Fischer said, "at their great country estate on Long Island. The bird that polished our golf clubs was none other than Rodolph Valentino, the assistant gardener.

Keeps Him Waiting

"And to think I can't even see this man to whom I am paying $7,500 a week and half of the proceeds of the house without having literally to get down on my knees and beg, and every time I go to his hotel he makes me wait half an hour in the lobby.

"Valentino demanded I charge $5 a ticket. When he pulled that on me I led him to the window of my office overlooking the entrance to the ballroom. I asked him if he could see a soul down there waiting to get in. There was nobody there.

"Most of those who come to see him are flappers and dissatisfied married women. But flappers don't buy $5 tickets and I told him so."

Low Dance Hall

Replying to Fischer, Valentino declared he had been unwillingly "buncoed" into dancing in a "third rate dance hall."

"I would not have signed the contract for a million dollars for one week had I known the place I was expected to dance in. No. There have been very small crowds to see me here but after I have seen Fischer's ball room I realize very well the reason.

"As to my dancing ability I refer only to performances in Philadelphia last week where the crowds were so great the police reserves were called out.

"I was not the assistant gardener at Mr. Bliss' home, but was the head landscape gardener and I never polished Fischer's golf clubs.

"I am not ashamed to admit that I was once poor. This country has been made by immigrants who started from the very bottom."

Truck and Street Car Crash; Panic Follows

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 8.—Causing a panic among twenty passengers, a crash between a Temple street car and an automobile truck at the intersection of Fountain and Vermont avenues, resulted in the serious injury to the driver of the truck and destruction of the truck and part of the street car by fire.

Gail Dwinell, 27, driver of the truck, was rescued from the flames that destroyed the truck by passing motorists and rushed to the receiving hospital, where it was declared he was in a serious condition.

Several persons in the street car who were scared by the impact of the crash and an explosion that followed, were bruised and otherwise slightly injured.

Dope Seller's Tale of Taylor's Death Probed

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 8.—Police are seeking to substantiate the story secured from a San Francisco dope peddler that he knew who fired the shot which more than a year ago killed William Desmond Taylor, noted motion picture director.

Several people, including two well known motion picture actresses, are scheduled to be questioned in the new probe. The story of the dope peddler involved them as being present, when a man, infuriated because one of the actresses bestowed her smiles on Taylor, shot and killed him in a jealous rage.

THEATRES

The GLENDALE

"Moonshine Valley," a Fox feature with William Farnum in the lead, heads the bill at the Glendale Theatre today. The story was written by Mary Murillo, author of many virile film romances. Herbert Brenon, who has directed a score of popular photoplays, swung the megaphone.

The result is a motion picture abounding in drama, action, romance, thrills and tugs at the heart-cords. It is a motion picture, moreover, abounding in magnificent scenery, and contains some of the most magnificent shots of wild mountain country ever filmed.

A strong cast of capable players support Mr. Farnum and help to carry the dramatic story through to its big punch conclusion.

A good picture for lovers of the outdoors to see.

COMPLETE PLANS FOR EXPOSITION

Promoter Leavitt Confers With C. of C. Officials On Ten-Day Show

Harry L. Leavitt, the promoter who is staging the Pageant of Progress and Industrial Exposition here in May, held a conference with the officials of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday, when it was decided to put on an automobile show in connection with the exposition, to be held on the site that is yet to be selected by the joint committee of the Chamber of Commerce and the Glendale Credit association.

The committee will also decide whether or not the exposition is to be held under the tent that forms a part of Mr. Leavitt's equipment, or in the open. It was stated by several of those present that the spring of the year forms an ideal time in which to hold an open air show, and it is probable that the final decision will be to dispense with the tent.

Discussing the proposed exposition after the conference, Mr. Leavitt stated that it is not to be, in any sense, a street fair or a carnival, in the common acceptance of the term. The exposition is designed to bring to Glendale the representative manufacturers and wholesalers of the southland, and invitations will be issued to such firms to enter exhibits of their merchandise in the exposition, which is intended to promote the industrial welfare of Glendale and to open a market for the transaction of business between the men who will be represented at the show.

High Class Shows

The entertainment features that he will book for the ten days of the exposition will be of the highest order, declares Mr. Leavitt, and only shows of the cleanest and best class will be granted concessions at the exposition.

Mr. Leavitt has had a lifetime of experience in the show business and in the promotion of entertainments of this nature. For ten years he was closely associated with John Cort, the well known San Francisco theatrical promoter, and for eleven years he was general manager of the Sullivan and Considine circuit, playing many of the leading theaters of the country. He is known throughout the country as the founder of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, and he is also actively enrolled in several of the other leading fraternal orders of the country.

He plans to establish an office here from which to direct the coming exposition, so that he can give it his personal attention daily.

Tale of Wrecked Rum Ship Starts Stampede

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 8.—Great excitement was caused when reports spread that a rum-running schooner had been wrecked on Mussel Rocks and cases of its whisky cargo were floating on the water. Scores of autos dashed to the scene to salvage the wreckage. Revenue officers heard the tale and twelve of them were rushed to the scene to take charge of the "wreck." All they found was some timbers presumably from the lumber schooner Sierra rammed off San Francisco lightship.

French Take 6 More Towns in Ruhr Basin

ESSEN, Feb. 8.—The French have strengthened and consolidated their new military positions south of the Ruhr basin, which were occupied on Tuesday. The French are moving eastward and northward, taking over towns where there are a number of important German textile mills.

The following six towns were occupied: Lennep, Lippe, Swaben, Wermelskercden, Overatd and Borne.

It is believed the French front will again be extended by the end of the week.

Upon the veranda of the ranch-house Barbara Harding came to a sudden halt. Her entire manner indicated final decision, and determination.. A moment she stood in thought and then ran quickly down the steps and in the direction of the office. Here she found Eddie dozing at his post. She did not disturb him. A glance through the window satisfied her that he was alone with the prisoner. From the office building Barbara passed on to the corral. A few horses stood within the enclosure, their heads drooping dejectedly. As she entered they raised their muzzles and sniffed suspiciously, ears a-cock, and as the girl approached closer to them they moved warily away, snorting, and passed around her to the opposite side of the corral. As they moved by her she scrutinized them and her heart dropped, for Brazos was not among them. He must have been turned out into the pasture.

She passed over the bars that closed the opening from the corral into the pasture and wormed her way between two of them. A hackmore with a piece of halter rope attached to it hung across the upper bar. Taking it down she moved off across the pasture in the direction the saddle horses most often took when liberated from the corral.

If they had not crossed the river she felt that she might find and catch Brazos, for lumps of sugar and bits of bread had inspired in his equine soul a wondrous attachment for his temporary mistress.

Down the beaten trail the animals had made to the river the girl hurried, her eyes penetrating the darkness ahead and to either hand for the looming bulks that would be horses she sought, and among which she might hope to discover the gentle Brazos.

The nearer she came to the river the lower dropped her spirits, for as yet no sign of the animals was to be seen. To have attempted to place a hackamore upon any of the wild creatures in the corral would have been the height of foolishness—only a well-sped riata in the hands of a strong man could have captured one of these.

Closer and closer to the fringe of willows along the river she came, until, at the very edge, there broke upon her already taut nerves the hideous and uncany scream of a wildcat. The girl stopped short in her tracks. She felt the chill of fear creep through her skin, and a twitching at the roots of her hair evidenced to her the extremity of her terror. Should she turn back? The horses might be between her and the river, but judgment told her that they had crossed. Should she brave the nervous fright of a passage through that dark, forbidding laybrinth of gloom when she knew that she should not find the horses within reach beyond?

She turned to retrace her steps. She must find another way! But was there another way? And "To morrow they will shoot him!" She shuddered, bit her lower lip in an effort to command her courage, and then, wheeling, plunged into the thicket.

Again the cat screamed—close by—but the girl never hesitated in her advance, and a few moments later she broke through the willows a dozen paces from the river bank. Her eyes strained through the night; but no horses were to be seen.

The trail, but by the hoofs of many animals, ran deep and straight down into the swirling water. Upon the opposite side Brazos must be feeding or resting just beyond reach.

Barbara dug her nails into her palms in the bitterness of her disappointment. She followed down to the very edge of the water. It was black and forbidding. Even in the daytime she would not have been confident of following the ford—by night it would be madness to attempt it.

She choked down a sob. Her shoulders drooped. Her head bent forward. She was the picture of disappointment and despair.

"What can I do?" she moaned. "Tomorrow they will shoot him!"

The thought seemed to electrify her.

"They shall not shoot him!" she cried aloud. "They shall not shoot him while I live to prevent it!"

Again her head was up and her shoulders squared. Tying the hackamore about her waist, she took a single deep breath of reassurance and stepped out into the river. For a dozen paces she found no difficulty in following the ford. It was broad and straight; but toward the center of the river, as she felt her way along a step at a time, she came to a place where directly before her the ledge upon which she crossed shelved off into deep water. She turned upward, trying to locate the direction of the new turn; but here too there was no footing. Down river she felt solid rock beneath her feet. Ah! this was the way, and boldly she stepped out, the water already above her knees. Two, three steps she took, and with each one her confidence and hope arose, and then the fourth step—and there was no footing. She felt herself lunging into the stream, and tried to draw back and regain the ledge; but the force of the current was too much for her, and, so suddenly it seemed that she had thrown herself in, she was in the channel swimming for her life.

The trend of the current there was back in the direction of the bank she had but just quitted, yet so strong was her determination to succeed for Billy Byrne's sake that she turned her face toward the opposite shore and fought to reach the seemingly impossible goal which love had set for her. Again and again she was swept under by the force of the current. Again and again she rose and battled, not for her own life but for the life of the man she once had loathed and whom she later had come to love. Inch by inch she won toward the shore of her desire, and inch by inch of her progress she felt her strength failing. Could she win? Ah! if she were but a man, and with the thought came another: Thank God that I am a woman with a woman's love which gives strength to drive me into the clutches of death for his sake!

Her heart thundered in tumultuous protest against the strain of her panting lungs. Her limbs felt cold and numb; but she could not give up even though she was now convinced that she had thrown her life away uselessly. They would find her body; but no one would ever guess what had driven her to her death. Not even he would know that it was for his sake. And then she felt the tugging of the channel current suddenly lessen, an eddy carried her gently inshore, her feet touched the sand and gravel of the bottom.

Gasping for breath, staggering, stumbling, she reeled on a few paces and then slipped down clutching at the river's bank. Here the water was shallow, and here she lay until her strength returned. Then she urged herself up and onward, climbed to the top of the bank with success at last within reach.

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad.

TODAY—Page boys in the U. S. Senate have created a Junior Senate, writes Kenneth W. Clark, Washington correspondent.

TOMORROW—Premier Bonar Law of England, has "learned his first lesson in publicity," writes David M. Church, London correspondent.

By KENNETH W. CLARK
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Page boys of the senate, ranging in ages from 12 to 15, have formed a junior senate.

It is patterned, even to the most minute details of rules and procedure, after the United States senate, where these boys eagerly answer every beck and call of the ninety-six members of the upper legislative chamber of the country.

The fundamental purpose of the new organization is to foster better spirit and co-operation among the boys and to promote study of government, politics and history. As a side line, the junior senate will provide entertainments and athletic contests for the boys. The membership has reached fifteen.

The junior senate has a president, a president pro tempore, a chaplain and all the regular officers and functionaries of the senate. There are five standing committees—athletic, contingent expenses, entertainment, library and rules.

While the youthful lawmakers have not yet a steering committee or factional leaders, they do recognize a filibuster. In the first minutes of the organization it was reported officially that one of the pages was filibustering against certain nominations.

The salutations and formalities of the senate are strictly observed. Every page is a member of at least one of the standing committees, but it is specifically provided no page may serve on more than two of the major committees, or upon more than three committees at any one time.

The resolutions and bills of the junior body are recorded, numbered and filed exactly as is done in the senate.

As in the senate, there is no limitation on debate, though after the first meeting considerable agitation arose among certain members for an alteration of procedure so that "gag rule" might be adopted.

An amazingly interesting and entertaining document of the junior senate is the record of the initial and organization meeting. It is written in the manner and style of the journal of the senate. Excerpts follow:

"Mr. Gaylord presented a resolution (S. P. Res. 1) in which the cabinet had appointed members for each of the five standing committees, for which he asked unanimous consent for immediate consideration.

"Mr. Knight then objected to the consideration of the resolution on the ground the cabinet had not been empowered to appoint the membership of said committees.

"Mr. Brew obtained recognition and introduced a resolution (S. P. Res. 2) whereby the cabinet could recommend but not appoint the membership of committees, which was agreed to.

"Mr. Gaylord then reintroduced his resolution as a recommendation of the cabinet that the following should constitute the committees"—the committee personnel then follows.

"Mr. Coughlin then offered a resolution (S. P. Res. 3) directing the rules committee to draw up a constitution and a set of by-laws, which was agreed to.

"Mr. Brew then tendered a resolution (S. P. Res. 4) that would make Mr. Riedel, who had just become a member, chaplain and would also place him on the committee from which Mr. Cheatham had resigned, it being the committee on entertainments. The resolution was agreed to.

"After this Mr. Brew offered a resolution (S. P. Res. 8) placing Mr. Riedel on the rules committee. Some debate ensued, whereupon Mr. Myers asked for the yeas and nays. The yeas and nays were ordered. The vote showed: Yeas, 9; nays, 2. So the resolution was agreed to."

There then followed resolutions appointing a sergeant-at-arms and an assistant sergeant-at-arms.

"Mr. Brew then suggested an adjournment, but Mr. Myers, who was filibustering, suggested the absence of a quorum. A quorum was present."

Motions directing the secretary as to how the minutes of meetings should be recorded were adopted, and the junior senate, after successfully weathering its first filibuster, finally adjourned.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE WHISTLER

One day as Uncle Wiggily was hopping along through the fields, hoping he might have an adventure, the bunny rabbit gentleman saw a place where the warm sun had melted away the snow, leaving a hole in the side of a hill.

"Oh, ho!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily to himself as he twinkled his pink nose. "That hole looks to me like the front door of a den, where some animal lives. I only hope it isn't the home of the Fuzzy Fox or Woozie Wolf."

But there was something friendly about this hole and the smell that came from it did not seem to be the wild, scary smell of a Fox or Wolf.

And just as Uncle Wiggily was wondering whether he hadn't better hop away, until he found out who lived in the hole, all of a sudden a little black nose popped up, and out of the den came Woody Chuck, the groundhog boy.

"Oh, Woodie! I'm so glad it's you!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "But why have you awakened from your long winter sleep?"

"Because tomorrow is the day when we woodchucks must look for our shadows," answered Woody. "Hey, Waddie," he called behind him in the hole, "come on up! Here's Uncle Wiggily!"

Up came the other groundhog boy, and very glad the rabbit gentleman was to see them both.

"There's another reason we awakened today," went on Woody, as he and Waddie walked out a little way into the warm sun—for the sun was warm, even though this was the first day of February. There was a little thaw in Woodland.

"What is the other reason you awakened?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"We are expecting a visit from Uncle Marmot," went on the groundhog boy. "He is coming down from up North to pay us a visit, and he may be along any minute. Mother said we'd better come out and see if he might be coming."

"Who is your Uncle Marmot?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"He is an animal something like us," answered Waddie, "except he is much bigger—he's twice as big as my father. He doesn't live around here, but he sent word that he'd come to pay us a little visit."

"Well, I hope he does," said Uncle Wiggily, "for I should like to see him. But what's this, boys, about getting ready to see your shadows?"

"That comes tomorrow—Candlemas day," said Woodie. "We'll tell you about it then."

"Won't you come down in our burrow and see mother and father?" politely invited Waddie. "They're awake from their long winter sleep for a little while, as they want to see Uncle Marmot, Come down."

"Thank you, I will tomorrow, perhaps," said the bunny. "Just now I must hop along and look for an adventure."

So Uncle Wiggily hopped along, leaving Woodie and Waddie Chuck playing in the sun at the entrance to their burrow, looking for Uncle Marmot to come along.

The bunny rabbit was passing a big stump when all of a sudden out popped the Bob Cat.

"Now I'm going to get your ears!" howled the Bob Cat. But just as he reached out a claw to pull Uncle Wiggily toward him, all of a sudden a shrill whistle sounded over the fields. Again and again the whistle sounded.

"Oh, my! I must run!" howled the Bob Cat. "That must be a hunter man whistling to his dogs and they'll chase me while he shoots me, I'll get your ears some other time, Uncle Wiggily!" Then the Bob Cat ran away. The whistling still sounded and the bunny was thinking perhaps he had better run when he saw a big animal like a woodchuck ambling along.

"Did you whistle?" asked the rabbit.

"I did," was the answer. "I saw the Bob Cat after you and I

"Did you whistle?" asked the rabbit.

whistled like a hunter. I am a good whistler, you know. You can hear me a mile away," and he whistled again.

"Who are you?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"I am Uncle Marmot," was the answer, "and I'm looking for Woodie and Waddie Chuck to pay them a visit."

"I'll show you where they live," said Uncle Wiggily. "They're waiting for you," and he took Uncle Marmot to the burrow and everybody was happy except the Bob Cat. So it's a good thing marmots can whistle, isn't it?

So if the icicle doesn't try to stand on its head and tickle the snowball in the ribs, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the shadows.

APPARATUS AND DEVICES

By RALPH BROWN, RADIO ENGINEER

MULTIPLE PLUG

This is a new plug designed to answer the needs of the radio experimenter who does not desire the use of a loud speaker. This plug enables you to use four or less sets of telephone receivers at the same time. It is so designed that when two or more receivers are to be connected to your set they are connected in series, as it has been shown by tests that better results are obtained by this method than if the phones were placed in multiple. Loops are provided to complete the series connection when less than four receivers are used.

RADIO DEVELOPMENT

BY LIEUT JOHN R. IRWIN
U. S. AIR SERVICE (RESERVE)

DISCOVERY OF ARC RADIO SYSTEM

The arc system of radio telegraphy was invented by a Danish scientist, Valdemar Poulsen. Much of the modern success can be claimed, however, by American engineers employed by the Federal Telegraph Company of San Francisco, who acquired the American rights to Poulsen's inventions and who are responsible for the phenomenal long range work at present carried on by the arc method. It is to data made available by the above company that the articles dealing with the arc system are prepared.

Before entering into a detailed description of the arc transmitter it would be interesting to make a brief comparison of the two transmitting systems, the spark and the arc.

The experiments performed by those who discovered and developed electromagnetic waves were carried out with very high frequency currents, generally producing waves of very short length. The only means known to these early experimenters at that time for propagating the required currents was by means of the condenser discharge. An oscillatory circuit containing a charged condenser would suddenly be closed and the condenser allowed to discharge, which would create a brief oscillating alternating current, dying out comparatively rapidly after a number of alternations. This variety of current has been explained in prior articles. The condenser utilized was charged at frequent intervals and a spark gap used as an automatic switch to suddenly close the oscillatory circuit. A spark would occur when the condenser voltage became of a sufficient value during its period of charge, thereby providing means for a discharge. These discharges were usually timed to occur at a rate such as would be of a convenient audible frequency, so that the resulting oscillatory currents would consist of a train of groups, each group following a condenser discharge.

Therefore, in the ordinarily adopted system long intervals of time, relatively speaking, transpired between these several groups so that actual alternating current existed in the circuit during a portion of the time.

Report Revolt Among Peasants of Ukraine

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 8.—Hundreds of Bolshevists are reported to have been killed in a peasant revolt in Ukrania, according to unconfirmed word from Moscow. The uprising is said to be spreading. A state of siege has been declared in Southern Ukrania.

The area of the Atlantic Ocean is 41,321,000 square miles.

Urge Acquisition of Land for Spur Tracks

Gustav Rasmus, president of the Pep Chemical company, will appear before the City Council tonight to lay before the members the suggestion of the Southern Pacific company that the city acquire additional ground adjoining the site of the aviation field, so that spur tracks may be laid from the present tracks to the part of the aviation field chosen for the erection of industrial plants.

There is one small piece of land, according to Mr. Rasmus, that it will be necessary for the city to secure before the proposed spur tracks can be laid to the factories that will be built, and the speedy acquisition of this tract will insure the speedy initiation of the program for the building of the factories that are planned for the industrial portion of the city's land.

Eve repented, of course, but it is probable that she spent many twilight hours in later years thinking how good the apple tasted.

SPEAKING OF DOGS

A Letter Friend wonders if I like dogs. "In all the time you have been writing," she says, "I have never seen a word from you in regard to man's most faithful friend."

I think my Letter Friend is right.

Not in suspecting that I dislike dogs. Gracious goodness, no! Heaven forbid that such an idea should attach to my name. But in thinking that I have never said anything about them.

And it really is one of the most extraordinary things I ever discovered about myself.

Do I dislike dogs? Madame, I doubt if there are many people in this world who love dogs as much as I do.

I never saw a puppy that I didn't want to possess it.

Not So Much for People

I have known a few dogs, perhaps three or four, to whom I didn't feel drawn but only a few, mind you, in all the hundreds and thousands of dogs I have known. Could one say as much as that for human beings?

As for the dogs of fiction, for Red Will (whom I like better than Bob, think of me what you will) for the hero of the Bar Sinister, and for the dear adorable Runt, I have a tenderness of heart that is almost too poignant.

When I was a child and mother would not let me bring home some stray dog, I used to assert passionately that when I grew up I should bring home every stray dog I met and keep him until I found a home. I didn't know then that grownupness has to adjust itself to other people as well as childhood.

My Dog

I also said that I should possess as my own dogs besides the family of strays, one Great Dane, one bull dog, one collie and one St. Bernard.

I have attained one-quarter of that felicity. I wish you could see him, the sweetest, wisest, handsomest dog that ever lived (even as your dog). You may decide which of the four he is according to your personal tastes.

People who do not like dogs sometimes ask me what it is that I care so much about in them. "They can't talk to you and they are useless. They don't do anything for you as a horse does," they say. I have never been able to make myself articulate to people who have this deafness of the heart in regard to dogs. I wonder if the following passage from an English essayist will help any. I think it is the best thing I ever saw on the subject.

Why We Love Them

"We may love other animals and other animals may respond to our affection. But the dog is the only animal who has a reciprocal intelligence. As Coleridge says: 'He is the only animal that looks upward to man, strains to catch his meanings, hungers for his approval.' Stroke a cat or a dog and it will have a physical pleasure but pat Chum and call him a good dog and he has a spiritual pleasure. He feels good. He is pleased because you are pleased. His tail, his eyebrows, every part of him proclaim that 'God's in His Heaven,' and that he himself is on the side of the angels. And just as he has the sense of virtue so he has the sense of sin. A cat may be taught not to do certain things, but if it is caught out and flees, it flees not from shame but from fear. But the shame of a dog touches a misery as bottomless as any human emotion. He has fallen out of the state of grace and nothing but the absolution and remission of his sin will restore him to happiness. By his association with man he seems to have caught something of his capacity for spiritual misery."—Alpha.

Beauty Chats

A YOUNG MOTHER'S QUERY

I had a rather pathetic letter the other day from a girl of only 19, a young mother who had recently weaned her first baby. The bust had become almost flat. It was dry and shriveled and looked as though she might be nearer 90 than 19. What could she do, she asked, to restore the beauty and youth of which she had always been proud?

Let me quote here the advice of an authority. Generally, nursing the baby at first is a painful and sometimes nauseating experience. Generally also the bust becomes flat when the child is weaned. Neither of these things need happen. If the bust enlarges very much before the child is born a light unboned brassiere should be worn with straps over the shoulders. This should be adjusted so it does not confine the bust, but so that it completely supports its weight; otherwise the muscles, bearing an undue strain, will sag after a return to normal size.

This is something in which the average doctor is not interested and the average nurse does not know. Also the bust should be massaged daily, from the sixth month on, with a little olive oil—with a motion as near the nursing of a child as possible. This, and daily bathing with salt water, will so strengthen the breasts that nursing will not be painful.

When the child is weaned it should be done gradually, and nothing should be used to dry up the milk. This will take care of itself. The brassiere should still be worn, the breasts should still be massaged with olive oil for several months afterwards, and the daily bathing with salt water should be continued. If this is done there is no reason why the figure afterwards should not be as beautiful as before. There is never any reason why motherhood should spoil a woman's beauty.

Sarah Marie:—For a very dry scalp rub into it a small amount of olive oil after the shampoo. This may be done without making the hair oily, if you separate the hair into strands and massage only a few drops of oil into the scalp from the tips of the fingers.

Weighty:—You are 40 pounds overweight. A woman of 40 years, height 5 feet 4 inches, should weigh about 130 and 135 pounds. The excess flesh is probably causing the shortness of breath and your other discomforts. If you wish my reduction diet, send a letter in which there is a stamped addressed envelope enclosed, and I will mail it to you.

Mother:—Your little girl's hair flies about when you touch it with a comb because it is full of natural electricity. This indicates health.

Tomorrow—Neat Looking Hair.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

My Dear Followers:

When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 250 words, and type or write them legibly with ink or I cannot read them. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest.

"Dear Doctor:

"I have weak ankles and I wear silk rubber stockings and they do make your legs slim. Mine are the ventilated kind and they are very cool and comfy. I think they might help your F. F. F's.....S. S."

Thank you for the suggestion. I have lots of despairing letters from those with too fat legs. For your weak ankles you should be taking some foot exercises. Rising on your toes, walking toes in, etc.

Mrs. G. T.—I would not give the baby paregoric nor any soothing syrups for colic. The adorable Sockums has recently given his experiences with colic. You can have his advice if you send for it in the usual manner.

You ask if it will hurt the baby if its mother eats raw oatmeal while nursing. I think not, if she masticates it very thoroughly. But have her observe the effect on the baby and if it seems to cause distress, then have her try something else for her constipation. It is especially important for the mother to be free from constipation during nursing, and there are other things that she can do for that besides eating raw oatmeal. Send for our pamphlet on constipation also.

L. J.—Some throat specialists are using the X-ray for diseased tonsils and are having good results with it. You will have to be guided by your specialist.

"Dear Doctor:

"I am five feet one inch tall. Three years ago my weight was 130. I married and since that time I have been gaining until I now weigh 175 and am in a dreadful condition. The harder I work the fatter I get. My periods are very irregular. My greatest ambition is for a baby. But I am discouraged.....Mrs. T."

Don't be discouraged, Mrs. T. Reduce your excess weight. I have had a number of letters from our overweight followers telling me how happy they were because they were going to become mothers after thinking for years that they were sterile. Overweight is one of the causes of sterility.

You will find your periods are more regular after you get down to normal. The ovaries undoubtedly are affected by excess weight and often times cease to function properly. This in turn, by depriving the system of the ovarian internal secretion, helps the system to store up fat and thus the vicious circle is caused.

J. C. — Send for our instructions on gaining. (It cannot be sent, however, unless you follow instructions to enclose four cents in stamps and an envelope you have addressed to yourself). If you have no organic trouble you will get results by following the right regime.

New Deposits of Gold Are Found in Germany

BERLIN, Feb. 8.—Hopes of substantial additions to Germany's supply of gold have been aroused among German metallurgists and financiers by reports of the discovery, in Waldeck, of gold-bearing clay deposits with a high content of precious metal.

The newly discovered deposits assay not less than 44 grammes of gold to the metric ton. Mining operations can be profitably conducted, according to German metallurgists, on the basis of a gold yield of only ten ounces to the ton.

Director Beyschlag of the German bureau of mines is in charge of the explorations which are being made to determine the amount of "pay dirt" in sight and the proper technical equipment for its refining.

When disaster impends, some are cheerful because they are philosophers and some because they haven't any better sense.

Chinese Will Revive Bull Fighting Pastime

SHANGHAI, Feb. 8—Spain and Mexico may think they hold the honors for bull fighting, but they are all wrong. Bull fighting was a favorite indoor sport in China long before the dashing Spaniards ever thought of running circles around a bull.

Shanghai will soon be famous for its bull fights. A spacious arena is now being constructed in the French settlement on a ten-acre tract of land for the purpose of staging the fights. The bulls will be obtained from Kinghua, Chekiang. Forty trained bulls will arrive in Shanghai shortly and be held in readiness for the grand opening fight.

License for the performances has been obtained from the French authorities.

Dispute Over Rank of Officers Is Settled

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8. — A long-standing dispute between the army and the navy as to whether Major-General Charles P. Summerall, commander of American military forces in Hawaii, outranked Rear-Admiral Simpson, chief of naval forces in the islands, was settled by an opinion of the attorney-general.

The opinion held that Summerall was the ranking officer of the islands because his commission as a major-general ante-dated Simpson's elevation to the upper list of rear-admirals.

It has been my experience that the average person who wishes to give a St. Valentine's Party has his or her own ideas concerning how to decorate table and rooms, as well as what to serve for refreshments. But the thing that puzzles in most cases, is what games to play. Try the following:

Where's Your Heart? The players sit in a circle and the first one says to his left-hand neighbor: "Where's your heart?" The neighbor replies by saying anything he pleases—such as "My heart is with the stars above. The one who asked him where his heart was, must now reply with a sentence which rhymes such as "It looks as if you were in love." Then the one who said his heart was with the stars, turns to his left hand neighbor and asks: "Where's your heart?" etcetera. The more ridiculous the sentences, the better.

Cutting the Heart String: Hang a large red cardboard heart by a string from your chandelier. Blindfold each guest, in turn, twirl him around several times, and push him forward to try to cut the heart-string with a large pair of scissors. If one succeeds in doing this before all have had a turn, tie the heart up again until all have tried. Then those who have succeeded, must play a little rubber game, all by themselves, to decide the winner. A simple prize might be given for this contest.

Heart Mystery: Each player is asked to shut his eyes while the hostess pins on his back a heart upon which is written a word suggesting love—such as "Courtship," "Honeymoon," "Marriage," "Rice," "Solitaire," etcetera. Now each guest must guess what his "label" is, from the conversation of other guests. For instance, the person who is labeled "Solitaire" is asked such questions as: "Did it cost over $100?" "Did it fit her?" or "Did she like it?" As each one guesses correctly he may sit down. The last on the floor is given the booby prize.

Making Valentines: Put glue, cardboard, red crepe paper, white lacy paper, colored crayons, and as many pairs of scissors as there are guests, on a table. At a signal all start to make a valentine in five minutes. The prettiest result brings a prize.

Tomorrow—Five Good Pudding Recipes.

SPORTS

SPORTS CHATTER

By BILL UNMACK
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

Two dozen native-bred Hawaiian polo ponies are participating in the polo championships now being played on the Pacific coast circuit and horsemen and poloists are watching their performances with keen interest.

The ponies were raised on the Carter ranch in Hawaii, and recently arrived in San Francisco after the long ocean voyage, little the worse for a rough trip and several days of seasickness. The Carter ranch is one of the oldest on the islands, where the largest stock of thoroughbred cattle on one piece of property in the world is said to exist. The ponies were sired by Gold Oak, son of Gold Heels, by Eastertide, Frolic, Rogers and other noted thoroughbreds from the United States.

The horses are the property of the Hawaiian department army polo team which is taking part in the tournament. The members of the team are Captain Joseph M. Swing, Majors John Millikin and Carlos Brewer and Colonel B. F. Browne.

They are going to put over, if possible, a bill in the state legislature permitting fifteen-round bouts in California. The chances are that it is foredoomed to failure. Instead of getting together the sports writers of the various newspapers, and other disinterested, from a monetary standpoint, experts, a half-baked and totally inadequate bill has been submitted that is vague and does nothing to protect the game.

If a thing is worth doing it is worth doing right and for any individual or self-elected group to try and put over such a stunt is hopeless in the face of it, especially in view of the fact that an attempt in a previous session of the legislature to get 6 and 10-round fights was coldly and promptly turned down. Any law that is entered into the books must be properly sponsored by responsible and conscientious persons. It must be nursed and it must throw every safeguard around the sport. It is a safe bet that California will not have 15-round boxing. At least, not through any action on the part of the present legislature.

The secret has leaked out that Willie Ritchie, former world's lightweght champion is boxing in a gymnasium every other day and going through all the stunts called for by a man in training for a bout. All of which means that Willie evidently has not disposed of the bee in his bonnet urging him to re-enter the ring. A man is not going through this drab and irksome form of exercise merely for the fun of it. Especially when that man is a golf bug as is Ritchie. The links see him no more.

Chester and McCusker Joins Los Angeles Club

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 8.—Announcement was made today that Manager Wade Killifer has signed up Frank Chester, third baseman, and Harry McCusker, outfielder, in the local winter league and directed them to report February 25 to the Angels training camp.

LOCAL GRAPPLER DEFEATS PERMAN

Hackenschmidt Throws Visitor in 19 Minutes After Exciting Bout

Out-fighting and out-weighing Bill Perman of Fresno, Young John Hackenschimdt took the first and only fall of the evening after nineteen minutes of real wrestling.

Although being out-weighed by many pounds, Perman was game and in a few instances had Hackenschmidt in some very precarious positions. By applying a double arm scissors Young Hackenschmidt pulled the trick after feeling his opponent out.

The match was scheduled as the best two out of three falls, but Perman's leg, which sustained an injury a few days ago, was sprained and he was advised not to re-enter the ring.

In the preliminaries Joe Kelley of Los Angeles won the decision over Walter Dodge of Glendale in a four-round boxing bout, while the match between Joe Bauer of Glendale and Young George of Los Angeles turned out a draw, to the satisfaction of every one present.

Ad Santel, famous wrestler, refereed the main go, while A. Clinton watched over the preliminaries.

Club Owner Attacks Ball Players' Union

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Declaring the baseball players' union to be a deliberate attempt to "squeeze" club owners in salary questions, Charles Ebbets of the Brooklyn club today made public a statement condemning the body and its organizer, Ray Cannon.

"I have a letter from that lawyer in Milwaukee, who seeks to control the National league, advising the players not to sign until they had accomplished certain aims," Ebbets said in part. "This letter was sent out in the fall and fell into my hands through accident.

"There is no doubt whatever that the union, no matter what Cannon may say, has been organized to attempt to squeeze the owners, but I, for one, will not be squeezed. It's a fine situation when a lawyer from the middle west tells our players to take part in a holdup for money and tries to run our affairs."

Ebbets said he understood there were a number of hold-outs among the Dodgers and intimated that he believed Zack Wheat had been with Brooklyn "too long." He also affirmed the report that he was willing to sell his share in the club.

Joe Gorman Is Given Draw With Shannon

PORTLAND, Feb. 8.—Joe Gorman, Portland featherweight, fought a ten round draw with Eddie Shannon here last night in the main event of a boxing show under the municipal boxing commission.

Gorman appeared to have a slight edge, in the opinion of the crowd. He was the aggressor and only Shannon's clever defensive work saved him from severe punishment.

Little Frankie Grandetta won the plaudits of the fans when he refused to accept a referee's decision after young Brown had repeatedly fouled him. Grandetta easily won the four round encounter and all but knocked out his opponent, who outweighed him 13 pounds.

Johnny Fugate and Joe Black of Tacoma fought a four round draw after Black appeared badly beaten in the first two rounds. Soldier Woods and "Broken Blossom" fought a draw.

Baseball Players Are Reinstated by Landis

CHICAGO, February 8.—Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis today reinstated George H. Dumont, formerly of the Boston Americans, Walter C. Keeley, of the Brooklyn Nationals, and Charles Dorman of the Chicago White Sox.

Dumont, who had been accused of playing with ineligibles, previously had been denied reinstatement. Keeley, Landis announced, "has not played with ineligibles," and in the case of Dorman his conduct has been "apparently good."

John Russell of the Kansas City club was placed on the ineligible list "for irregularities" in financial transactions.

HINTS FOR THE MOTORIST

by ALBERT L. CLOUGH
Editor Motor Service Bureau Review of Reviews

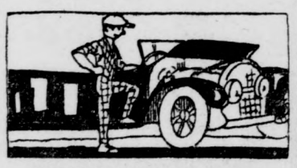
GRINDING VALVES TOO OFTEN
Valves Won't Stand Unlimited Grinding

VALVES MUST, OF COURSE, BE KEPT TIGHT and to accomplish this, they must be ground in occasionally, but unnecessarily frequent grindings are to be avoided, if only because of the labor and expense involved. There is, however, an even more serious objection to grinding them too often, namely the effect upon the valve seats. These are usually quite narrow and they, as well as the valve-faces themselves, are worn away by the grinding compound, so that the valves, in time, seat too deeply or almost pass the seat. There is also a tendency for the seat to be ground eccentric with the stem guide and, after an excessive number of grindings, new seats must be formed by the use of a special reseating tool—a sort of counterbore—and valves with oversize heads provided. Usually, long before this condition is reached, the faces of the valves become eccentric and have developed decided shoulders, which must be ground off and a true face restored, in a special valve surfacing machine. The fact is that only a rather limited number of grindings can be performed before expensive machine work becomes necessary and therefore the valve grinding operation should be resorted to only when it is absolutely required. Only too often motorists are mistakenly advised to have valves reground, when in fact they are seating perfectly, in order to correct engine troubles which are caused by electrical or carburation difficulties or somethng else entirely apart from the valve action. "Have your valves ground" seems to be the "favorite prescription" at many repair shops, but this advice should never be followed, if all cylinders show well retained compression when the engine is handcranked. Inlet valves very seldom need regrinding and generally keep tight at least three or four times as long as the exhausts. It is the latter valves, if any, that require attention, in most instances, and it is worse than foolish to have both sets reground every time. Another evil is grinding too deeply in securing a perfect seat. Just enough and no more metal should be removed so that the valve and seat will show a ring of perfect contact and be capable of passing the usual tests for tightness. The exhaust valves of engines that are habitually run at high speeds are those which need grinding oftenest, while engines that are given light service often run for very long periods without this attention being required. The custom of grinding valves, each time the cylinder head is removed, for the scraping of carbon, is not generally warranted, if care is taken to prevent scrapings from lodging on the valve seats.

CHARGING BATTERY FROM ANOTHER CAR'S GENERATOR

W. H. S. writes: I have two cars, one of which I use all winter and the other is laid up completely. They both have 6-volt batteries, but of different sizes. Is there any way that I can charge the battery of the unused car from the generator of the other?

Answer: It should be possible to do so. Try the following: Disconnect the charging cable from the battery of the car that is in service, connect one end of a wire to this and the other end of it to the live side of the disused battery and connect the grounded side of the disused battery to the ground connection on the frame of the active car. Start the engine and run it just fast enough to cause its generator to give its normal charging current. It is necessary to make good electrical contacts all around, but you can probably manage to do this. Be sure that the battery to be charged is poled the same as the other one was and do the charging before the former is very much run down.



PRIMING THE OIL-PUMP

S. P. writes: After changing the oil in the crankcase, my oil-gauge failed to show pressure when I started the engine, and upon consulting the book of directions, I found that the pump should be primed, but it did not tell how to do this. What is the procedure?

Answer: Priming consists in displacing with oil any air which may have entered the pump. Just how the oil should be introduced depends upon the layout of the lubrication system. If the pump is accessible, there often is a screw plug provided in its housing which, when removed, allows one to fill the housing with oil from a squirt can. If the pump is out of easy reach, oil can sometimes be put in through the oil pressure relief valve, if there is any, after removing its cap or the pressure gauge can be disconnected by unscrewing its union and oil introduced through the gauge pipe. Any way in which oil can be furnished the system, so as to drive out the air, should prove effective.

Questions of general interest to the motorist will be answered by Mr. Clough in this column, space permitting. If an immediate answer is desired, enclose self-addressed, stamped envelope.

The Sport Crucible

By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Improvement in strokes, not men, accounts for the fact that Johnny Weissmuller, Duke Kahanamoku, Norman Ross and present-day swimmers in general are traveling yards faster than the experts of ten and twenty years ago, according to Joe Ruddy, perhaps the greatest of all water polo players.

Weissmuller wiped out some twenty or thirty records during the 1922 campaign and is hailed as the super-being of the tanks and open-water stretches, but, in Ruddy's opinion, Charlie Daniels was born ten years too soon. Given the conditions that now favor Weissmuller, it is Ruddy's belief that Daniels would break record for record with the Illinois A. C. marvel.

"Daniels was creating world's records with a stroke far inferior to the six-beat double-trudgeon that Weissmuller uses today," quoth Joseph, who has seen them all come and go since the pioneer days of the Cavill brothers right on down to the present generation.

"Another thing," he continued, "you can judge for yourself by the fact that Weissmuller often beats his field by mere fifths of seconds, whereas Daniels disposed of Beaurepaire of Australia, then the world's record holder, by seven yards in 100 meters."

By comparison, Ruddy intimates, Daniels' supremacy over the old school was so much greater as to indicate that strokes and not men make modern records possible.

"In what other branch of sport has the record been reduced from 1.10 or the hundred to 52 4-5 seconds?" Ruddy inquires plausibly enough. "The sprinters on the cinder path were just as good twenty years ago as they are now."

The oratorical Ruddy has a further point to make, to-wit: That present-day swimmers are specialists in water sports alone, while those of twenty years ago were all-around athletes. Daniels, he declared, ran a cracking quarter and a half mile for Dwight school. Today a champion swimmer would not think of running, for it develops certain muscles in a way that is detrimental to swimming.

"Weissmuller, Ross and the Duke never did anything but swim," he declared. "They gave their muscles a chance to develop for swimming only. That is why women swimmers have been making such rapid strides. The coaches get them before their muscles have been used for any other strenuous sport."

In this, he asserted, American coaches are showing far greater enterprise than those of any other country, and as a result the United States stands supreme among all nations in swimming.

"We wrested the supremacy from Australia with the advent of such great swimmers as Daniels, Goodwin, Vollmer, McGillivray, Hebner and Ross," he stated.

"We took their Australian crawl stroke and improved it until today we lead in the world, with a sixbeat double and single trudgeon crawl, our own creation. There is no country in the world that threatens to wrest the supremacy from us. Our women swimmers stand out as prominently as our men do internationally.

"For a while the swimmers led by Duke Kahanamoku, from the Hawaiian Islands, looked as if they might be dangerous rivals of ours. But," went on Ruddy, "they play too much in the water. Surf riding, aquaplaning, etcetera, take them away from training. They delight in playing under the warm tropical sun. The Duke, the Kealoha brothers, Harris and Cunha were as fine a set of swimmers as the world has ever seen, but their love of playing their spare moments away robbed them of being still greater against the pick of the foremost competitive swimmers of the world."

JESS WILL SEEK QUIET OF COUNTRY

Big Fellow to Work Hard For His Match With Floyd Johnson

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Having signed with all due ceremony to meet Floyd Johnson at the new Yankee park, in a quasi-preliminary bout to a possible return match with Jack Dempsey for the heavyweight championship, Jess Willard today announced his intention of going into intensive training immediately. The great open spaces are calling, and within a comparatively few days, Jess intends to forsake the big, unfeeling city for rural peace and comfort. He has no inclination to repeat his faux pas of Toledo.

"I was foolishly over-confident of beating Dempsey, but this time I will take no chances," he told the writer. "When I meet Johnson, I intend to be in almost perfect condition and I will fght as I never did before. It is serious business with me this time."

Seeks Quiet Spot

Willard plans to seek some quiet spot, far enough from New York to discourage chance visits from the curious, and at the same time have Ray Archer, his manager, within call whenever necessary. He has Lakewood, N. J., in mind, not only because of geographic excellence but also in view of the comparatively mild weather, which will permit road work.

"I will do more running in the country this time," he declared, "but I'm not going to run myself silly, either, as some of my critics claimed I should have done at Toledo. You, see, I know myself better than any other man can hope to. It has been suggested that I get a trainer and I may do so, although I think I know how to train myself. That also was pointed out as one of my big mistakes but it was not.

Waives Age Limit

"My great mistake," he added, earnestly, "was in kidding myself into believing I had a cinch. So many critics had stated that I couldn't be hurt, I really took the matter for granted. I know better now."

The New Rork milk fund is to be the beneficiary of the bout and when this fact was made known to William "Peculiar" Muldoon, he promptly waived the age limit under which Willard had been barred in this state.

Portland Club Chief To Halt at Hanford

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 8.—William H. Klepper, president of the Portland baseball club, on a business trip south, said he would stop at Hanford to look over the Beavers' training arrangements.

REJOICING OVER LASCELLES BABY

Royal Grandparents Hurry To Welcome Princess Mary's New Son

By DAVID M. CHURCH
For International News Service

LONDON, Feb. 8.—Princess Mary, Viscountess Lascelles, the daughter of King George and Queen Mary, to whom a son was born last night, was resting easily today. The son is described as a fine, healthy child."

All Britain joined in universal rejoicing today over the birth of the first grandchild of the king and queen. King George was described as the "happiest, proudest man in the empire."

Dr. Henry Simpson and Dr. Stanley Hewett, the attending physicians, said that the viscountess had spent a comfortable night. She plans to go to Southern France after christening the baby.

Telegrams were sent out early today notifying the Prince of Wales, the Duke of Connaught and the Duke of York of the newest arrival.

Limit Baby's Names

It is expected that the baby's name will be selected from those of most intimate relatives, being limited to four or five Christian names.

The christening robe will be a rich garment covered with old lace which has been in the royal family for four generations. It was first used at the baptism of the late King Edward VII. The christening probably will take place in the chapel royal of St. James' palace with the Prince of Wales and other members of the royal family standing as godparents.

It is likely that King George will soon make Viscount Lascelles, the father, an earl, thereby making the infant heir to the earldom.

The newspapers today devoted much space to the happy event. Both the king and the queen called at Chesterfield house to inquire after their daughter's condition and to get a peep at their grandchild.

SENATOR SCORES DEPT. OF JUSTICE

Repetition of 'Red' Raids Will Be Impeachable Offense, Warning

By KENNETH W. CLARK
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—A warning that congress will look with disfavor upon any repetition by the department of justice of the wholesale "red raids" by former Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer during the winter of 1920, was sounded by Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana.

Walsh submitted a report by a sub-committee of the judiciary committee sharply attacking the department for illegal practices in conducting the raids. The report is signed by Senators Borah, Norris and Ashurst, in addition to Walsh.

"Hereafter congress will regard as an impeachable offense any use of such high-handed tactics," Walsh said.

Not only was the department without authority to make arrests in deportation proceedings, which, by act of congress, is delegated solely to the department of labor, but, Walsh added:

Outrage, Says Walsh

"From the standpoint of an enlightened humanity, it is not unfair to speak of the affair as an unmitigated outrage."

Aside from any legal or humanitarian consideration, Walsh said, he did not believe any series of wholesale raids could wipe out or check radical tendencies within the United States or any other country.

"I am skeptical about the claim that the subsidence of the radical activities is attributable to these lawless raids," he said, "particularly as the same change is noticeable all over Europe.

"All the time of the raids there was a general belief that Bolshevism was about to overrun Europe and engulf America. If Europe ever was alarmed at the prospect of being overrun by the arms or the ideas of Russia, it has fully recovered its normal state; if there ever prevailed any general idea that the people of Europe were about to embrace Bolshevism, it has been dissipated.

Constitution a Shield

"It is only in such times that the guarantees of the constitution as to the protection of individual rights are of any practical value," said the Walsh report.

"In seasons of calm no one thinks of denying them; they are accorded as a matter of course. It is rare except when the public mind is stirred by some overwhelming catastrophe or is aghast at some hideous crime, or otherwise overwrought, that one is required to appeal to his constitutional rights.

"If in such times the constitution is not a shield, the encomiums which statesmen and jurists have paid it are fustian."

Improvement Bonds on District No. 7 Offered

Bond investors of Glendale are interested in the offering of $23,000 bonds of Glendale Municipal Improvement District No. 7, at prices to yield 5⅛ per cent. These bonds were issued to pay the cost of installing a 12-inch water main in a growing section in the northeastern part of the city, where construction of numerous houses is only waiting on provision of water facilities. The district contains 1,186 acres of valuable land, and the bonds are secured by a direct ad valorem tax lien on all the property.

In their legal aspects the bonds are similar to school bonds. The legality of the issue has been approved by O'Melveny, Millikin, Tuller & Macneil, Los Angeles. The bonds are exempt from the federal income tax and from the California personal property tax as well. The assessed valuation of the district is $196,320, and its true value is greatly in excess of this sum. This bond issue of $23,000 constitutes the only debt. The bonds were purchased from the city by Freeman, Smith & Camp Co., of Los Angeles, and are being offered by them.

Envoy Files Protest Over Fresh Seizures

LONDON, Feb. 8.—Herr St. Hamer, German ambassador to England, called at the foreign office this afternoon and presented a note dealing with the Rhineland.

It is understood the note protests against the occupation of Appenweier and Offenburg on the ground that the Rhineland commission, under the Versailles treaty, has not the power to permit such occupation. These two towns were occupied last Sunday.

Not a solitary dyed-in-the-wool fisherman or lover of the outdoors is ever found behind prison bars, according to the Rev. Preston Bradley, pastor of the People's pulpit in Chicago. Glendale Rotarians Help to Launch New Group at Dinner Tuesday

Organization of a Rotary club in Burbank was announced at the meeting of the Glendale club this noon in the Chamber of Commerce dining hall. President Roy L. Kent and ten others journeyed to the neighbor city where the first meeting was held Tuesday night in the private dining-room of the Sunset Canyon Country club.

J. C. Crawford, mayor of Burbank, also a prominent realtor, was named president of the temperary organization. Dr. J. N. Van Meter is vice-president; J. J. King, treasurer; W. S. Sanderson, secretary; sergeant-at-arms, Bert A. Cross; and directors, A. J. Fillbach and J. A. Swall.

Speeches were made by many of those present, it was reported, and Burbank is well ready to be chartered as having a representative group in Rotary International which is building "friendships instead of battleships" the whole world around, as Sir Harry Lauder puts it.

The Burbank club meets hereafter at 12:15 o'clock Tuesdays at the Sunset Canyon clubhouse.

POLICEMEN FAVOR FEET FOR DANCE

Fire Laddies Keep Fingers Crossed to Ward Off Night Alarms

Glendale "cops" today are treading their beats easily in order to be kind to their feet and Glendale firemen are hoping that no night alarm tonight will disturb their slumbers. Both desire to enjoy from the "jump off" tomorrow night the first annual ball of the Glendale Police and Firemen's Association.

This function will be in the nature of a two ring affair. Simultaneous dances will be held at Odd Fellows' hall at 201 West Broadway and 138 North Brand boulevard. A large attendance is expected at both halls.

Captain Ralph Dodsworth of the fire department, chairman of the entertainment committee, stated this morning that over 1300 tickets had been sold.

"We want everybody to come and have a good time," he remarked. "We want people to come and get acquainted with us."

Vocal solos will be sung between the dances by C. E. Epps of the police department and George Blix of the fire department.

Green Hill beverages are being donated by the S. W. Brown Company of 463 West Los Feliz road and will be served free to guests of the evening.

A. M. Kelly of 1011 East Wilson avenue, director of the Shrine Club orchestra, will have charge of the music.

A number of prizes have been donated by K. T. Kuranaga, proprietor of the Japan Art and Tea Store at 135 South Brand boulevard, and will be awarded during the progress of the dances.

Plaintiff Loses Suit For $10,000 Damages

The $10,000 damage suit of Wilmot Kennedy Larr, plaintiff, against Harry T. Reid, defendant, represented by Attorney A. H. Davis, was tried Tuesday in the superior court, before Judge Valentine, and a verdict was found for the defendant. The costs, in the neighborhood of $50, were paid by the plaintiff.

Little Wilmot Kennedy Larr, it will be remembered, is the 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Larr, of 412 Raleigh street. The accident resulting in the action occurred nearly a year ago, at about 2 o'clock on the afternoon of February 18, 1922, near 724 East Windsor road, when the plaintiff was struck by a car driven by the defendant, suffering serious injuries.

"A warning to mothers is sounded in the verdict rendered in this case," states Attorney Davis, who successfully represented the defendant. "The evidence showed my client to have been driving at a careful rate of speed, and brought out that the plaintiff, though only 4 years old at the time, was playing in the streets under no supervision, approximately 1750 feet from his home. Young children must be more carefully watched and not allowed to wander away and play in the streets, if we are to have fewer accidents."

Overcome Costa Rican Objections to Canal

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 8.—The way was cleared today for the building at some future time of a Nicaraguan canal, "a second Panama canal," providing another short water passageway from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Announcement was made at the state department that the United States has signed a procotol with the government of Costa Rica, which definitely removes all obstacles in the way of the projected canal.

JUDGE LOWE IN CRASH

Judge F. H. Lowe of 310 Patterson avenue, while driving his new Ford sedan en route to the city hall this morning, avoided injuring Charles W. Shelton of 1219 South Central avenue whose motorcycle slipped under the wheels of the automobile. The collision occurred at the intersection of Doran street and Central avenue. Mr. Shelton was uninjured and accompanied Judge Lowe to the police department where an accident report was made out.

AUTO COLLISION

A collision occurred at 7:50 this morning between automobiles driven by W. S. Sharn of the Glendale Sanitarium and Joseph Pierre of 918 North Louise street. According to Mr. Pierre, who was going south on Howard street, he was half way across Wilson avenue when his car was struck on the left side by Mr. Sharn's car, which was going west. Its rear wheel was cracked and one of its fenders on the left side bent.

FIND RALPH DORT

PARIS, Feb. 8.—Ralph Dort, son of a Flint, Mich., automobile manufacturer, who was missing and was reported to have committed suicide in Geneva, has been found in Lausanne, according to a despatch from that city today.

MINOR OPERATION

A minor operation was performed this morning upon Mrs. C. R. Lusby of 239 North Louise street, at the Glendale Research hospital.

INVESTORS PLAN FOR HOTEL SITE

Ambrosini Hotel Co. Taken Over by Local Group of Business Men

Glendale investors interested in the establishment of a hotel on the northeast corner of Glendale avenue and Broadway met last night in the council chamber at the city hall and voted unanimously to buy out the Ambrosini Hotel Company.

In order to avoid the expense and inconvenience of incorporating as a separate company, those present agreed to take over the Ambrosini Hotel Company, which was on the point of abandoning its charter.

A new board of directors was elected consisting of C. W. Ingledue of 622 East Broadway, Charles F. Stuart of 638 East Broadway, Mrs. Mabel L. Tight of 612 East Broadway, S. C. Kinch of 328 North Brand boulevard and T. H. Menk of 143 South Isabel street. These will succeed the members of the old board of directors as soon as the necessary legal papers can be prepared at 106 East Broadway by Attorney Owen C. Emery.

Although Anthony Ambrosini of 143 South Isabel street, owner of the property, is not a member of the new board, he will be represented by his son-in-law, Mr. Menk, who was a member of the former board of directors.

C. W. Ingledue, president of the Glendale Advancement Association, presided at last night's meeting. He was assisted by its secretary, Herman Nelson of 100 South Glendale avenue, and Mrs. Mabel L. Tight, chairman of its hotel committee, in explaining the new project. Attorney Emery was present, also.

The plan is to purchase the site for a total consideration of $75,000 and then finance the hotel later.

Crowds Pack Matinee To See 'Smile Again'

The matinee performance of "Smile Again," the Shrine Club's comedy that is to be repeated again tonight, drew a capacity crowd to the T. D. & L. theatre this afternoon to witness the presentation of the sparkling three act play that forms the vehicle for some of the best local dramatic talent, as well as for several professional entertainers who are assisting the Glendale players.

In addition to the regular program, as presented this afternoon, the evening performance is to be enlivened by several special numbers that are being kept a dark mystery by the members of the club until the time comes for putting them on.

Shrine Club members who are responsible for the presentation of "Smile Again" have been congratulating themselves on its assured financial success since it became known early yesterday that the seats for the evening performance had all been taken, and the form that has been shown by all of the players in the east is also taken as a guarantee that "Smile Again" will take rank as one of the biggest dramatic successes ever presented in Glendale.

STOCKS, MARKETS

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—The stock market was irregular in the late dealings today, many of the leading issues reacting from 1@2 points under large profit taking sales. United States Steel dropped over 1 point and Studebaker fell to 120. American Tobacco moved up 3 points to 159.

The railroad stocks fell about 1 point. A sale was made in Mexican Petroleum at 270.

Bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds were irregular.

In Grain Market

CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—While the tendency of the grain trade today was bearish, the market did not suggest any great protracted weakness and the close was about on the same level as the finish of yesterday. Most of the news was bearish but there was a hopeful note in some of the dispatches concerning export business.

Corn flolowed the trend of wheat. Oats trading was moderate and in sympathy with the leading grains.

Wheat closed steady to ¼c lower; corn unchanged to a fraction higher and oats ⅛@½c down; provisions were easier.

HOGS BECOME WILD

From the few hogs that were freed on the Island of Santa Cruz in 1547 have come a race of ferocious wild boars, which have lost every trace of their domesticity. They mature enormous tusks, bristles like wire, have long hoofs and can run like deer. They are a plague to the ranchers of the island, eating their garden stuff and goring young stock.

AT RESEARCH HOSPITAL

Miss Eleanore Long of 418 North Central avenue is getting along nicely at the Glendale Research hospital following an appendectomy yesterday.

OPERATE ON NURSE

A minor operation was performed this morning at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital upon Rolland Christian, nurse at this institution.

UNDERGOES OPERATION

Dr. H. L. Russell of 339 West Maple street was operated upon this morning at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

"MY AMERICAN WIFE"

Wife's Injuries Lead To Charge of Murder

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 8.—Clarence N. Bush, better known as "Albino Joe," is in jail today on a charge of first degree murder, following discovery by police of the dead and badly bruised body of his wife in an east side apartment house here.

Black and blue spots on the woman's arms and chest, bruises on her face and throat and a discolored eye, coupled with stories of tenants in adjoining apartments, led police to believe that Bush killed his wife in a drunken fury.

Autopsy performed by the coroner revealed that death was due to "meningeal hemorrhage with evidence of external violence."

Two big events are scheduled for Saturday, February 10. A big parade will be held through the down town section Saturday morning. Each troop will enter a special float depicting some Boy Scout activity. All Boy Scouts of the Verdugo Hills district will meet at the Glendale Union High school promptly at 10 a. m. The parade will start at 10:30 and it is expected to have the High School band head the parade.

Scout Field Meet

A Boy Scout field meet will be staged on the High school athletic field starting at 1:15 p. m. The field meet will be run similar to an athletic meet with this exception—that all events will be Boy Scout activities. There will be eight different events as follows: First aid race, knot tying contest, dressing race, tug of war, water boiling contest, Paul Revere race, message relay race and skin the snake contest. All boys and girls in the Verdugo Hills district are invited to attend the field meet regardless of whether they are Scouts or not. A special invitation is extended to the general public as well.

Session of Court of Honor

The District Court of Honor will assemble Sunday night, February 11, at the First Congregational church at which time second class, first class and merit badges will be awarded. There are over 50 of these to be given out. Captain William C. Wattles, chairman of the District Court of Honor, will officiate. This session of the Court of Honor will be open to the general public, who are cordially invited to be present.

COMMENT THAT'S ALL

Fiction Outdistanced American Troops Home Hi And His Vacation Just One Big Thing

By Gil A. Cowan

FICTION never equaled the stories being written in this day of Little Phil Alguin's capture and the additional chapters relative to Clara Phillips, tiger woman.

From the copyrighted dispatches from Mexico and elsewhere, it is revealed that a dancer's love for her Mexican husband and his brother is the principal in a chase for criminals such as has seldom been equaled.

Catherine Uribe, whoever she may be, has more brains than the entire Los Angeles county sheriff's office and police department combined. Of course, some credit must be given Chief Louis A. Oaks for using her ability to ensnare Alguin and if possible Mrs. Phillips.

Perhaps other people would take the chances Mrs. Uribe is taking, also, if their great love was held on some minor charge and such work as this would mean their freedom.

Some novelist has opportunity of making a real story for the reels, it would seem.

The American troops are home from "die Wacht am Rhine."

For the minute, as it were, they are enjoying the hospitality of Savannah, Ga., which is typical of southern hospitality, and that is the par excellence of American hospitality.

Yes, the boys are back from the beergartens and while some of them brought frauleins, there is every reason to believe they will become Americanized, Volsteadated and Wright-acted within the next few weeks.

While theirs was a difficult service, one wonders what they will think of these United States and its changes in five or six years. In 1917 and 1918 the flags were waving, everybody was talking about "our boys" and so on and so forth.

It is slightly changed. Instead of barrooms, we now have country clubs; instead of "our boys," it is "you beggars;" instead of "peace for the world" or "safety for democracy," it is "we get ours, or you'll get yours."

Goshamighty, five years is an awful short time for all a that!

Senator Hiram Johnson of California is going abroad on a vacation trip soon after congress adjourns, it is reported.

By gollies, there is a fellow who in the last fifteen years has earned a vacation. He ought to have it.

Yet it is to be hoped that "our Hiram" will do no interpreting of America's peace feeling while "over there."

Let him enjoy the Alps and Vesuvius and Mediterranean and Rhine and what not, including a good look-in at the Versailles meeting place of Wilson & Co., league of nations manufacturers, but let him not try writing a new treaty.

California wants its Senator Johnson to maintain his reputation as this state's greatest man. When he gets to playing for world applause, we're apt to forget him!

There are 547 millionaires aboard one ship. The cruise is costing them a million and a quarter dollars.

Perhaps some pirate ship will come alongside the Mauretania in the Mediterranean and pick off a few millions.

Hofever, we hope nothing more serious happens to Judge Gary and his exclusive party.

If those 547 rich people were to die at the same time several insurance companies would likely be insolvent the next morning.

Glendale's Chamber of Commerce report is getting so big nowadays it takes a whole book to tell it all.

What we'd like to do is write a program of one word and see it carried out. And we will give the C. of C. the option of any of these three:

"Sewers" — "Hotel" — "Civic center."

Any one of those would be worthy of a year's work.

Talented People In Shrine Club's Show

LOUISE HOWARD

Who plays the part of "Liza" in the Shrine Club's show, "Smile Again," on the stage at the T. D. & L. this afternoon and tonight.

Louise Howard, who plays the part of "Liza" in the big Shrine club musical banquet, "Smile Again," on the boards of the T. D. & L. Theatre this afternoon and tonight, is a thoroughly trained professional actress. Her very successful stage career has popularized her throughout the northwest, where most of her engagements have been played.

Peggy Garretson, as "Mitzi" in the big fun feast, not only impersonates uniquely a chic French maid, but reveals a rich voice and charming personality in her several solos.

Nathan P. Dial, well known in Glendale for his delightful histrionic portrayals, takes the part of "Bob," the young college chap whose playful outbursts and ardent wooing of the above-mentioned French maid, "Mitzi," gives the necessary intoxicating content to this pepful home brew.

AID SCOUT DRIVE TO RAISE BUDGET

Exchange Club to Assist Campaign to Finance Two Years' Work

The campaign to raise the two-year Boy Scout budget was indorsed yesterday noon in the dining-room of the Citizens' Building by the Glendale Exchange club.

"The Boy Scout movement is one which should have the support of fathers, especially business men, in every community," remarked Capt. D. Ripley Jackson of 1800 South Brand boulevard, president of the association.

"It is really up to the business men of any community to foster the Boy Scout movement and it must be done with enthusiasm and finance," asserted Dr. Warren Z. Newton of 121 North Brand boulevard, chairman of the Boy Scout committee. "There is nothing like enthusiasm for results. There is no reason why this campaign can't be put over in the first day's work.

Campaign captains for the Exchange Club will be Dr. Jim Belyea, Fred E. Hoyt, Fred S. Hill, R. W. Jessup, W. C. Waring and Dr. T. P. Naehle.

Theatre Owner Host to Delegation of Scouts

More than 100 Boy Scouts of the Verdugo Hills District were the guests last night of William A. Howe, lessee and manager of the Glendale Theatre. Mr. Howe designated last night as Boy Scout night and, in addition to the regular program, the beautiful and dramatic Scout picture, "Knights of the Square Table," was shown as a special feature.

Scout Executive Harold Benner, on behalf of the Verdugo Hills District, thanked Mr. Howe for his generosity in having the Scouts as his guests. This was followed up by lusty and hilarious cheering for Mr. Howe by the Scouts themselves. Mr. Benner said that Mr. Howe's arrangement of Boy Scout night came at a most appropriate time, in that it was on the eve of the Thirteenth Anniversary of the Boy Scout Movement in America.

As an added attraction, the Boy Scout orchestra played several selections and according to the applause they received they made a big hit.

Mr. Howe is a member of the Verdugo Hills Scout Council.

full length of the park and you have a large portion of San Fernando road traffic going through there, mothers will have to watch their children more than near their own home."

Would Slow Down

Attorney W. E. Evans of 333 North Orange street replied that motorists coming to the outskirts of the park would naturally slow down.

A suggestion was made by Mr. Guthrie that as many members of the association as possible should accompany him to the city hall to present the matter to the City Council.

The maintenance of the ornamental lights on Brand boulevard was the second principal subject of discussion.

These light standards, installed a number of years ago, were paid for by the property owners at an expense of $70 per fifty foot lot. The verbal agreement between the property owners and the city administration was that the city would provide the electricity and maintenance.

"We, who had to pay for these standards, know very well that there was such an agreement," stated Mr. Jones. He reported that the City Council was assuming that such an agreement existed. He called attention to the difficulty many of the property owners had in paying for the lights. He mentioned the celebration on October 1921, when Brand boulevard was first illuminated.

Lights Help Brand

"The lighting of Brand boulevard has done more to advance the city than any other ten things that you might speak of!" exclaimed Prof. M. W. Chandler of 733 South Brand boulevard, who urged that all property owners interested should attend the hearing on this subject tonight by the City Council.

According to Attorney Jones, the members of the City Council seem to feel that the expense of maintaining these lights should be charged to general taxation instead of being paid by the public service department.

In the opinion of Attorney Evans, the public service department should continue to maintain these lights.

A. T. Cowan of 139 South Brand boulevard called attention to the fact that such an arrangement had a tendency to increase the local electricity rate which now serves as an inducement to bring additional families and industries to Glendale.

Billboards on Brand boulevard and Broadway was brought up for a brief discussion, but no action was taken. Attorney Jones said that the City Council is opposed to billboards, but is seeking the best legal means of restricting them.

HUGE WAR FLEET MENACES TURKS

Iron Ring Tightens Around Coast Line as Allies Blockade Ports

MALTA, Feb. 8. — Increased activity by the mighty British fleet in Near East waters was reported today. There are more than forty British, French and Italian warships of various sizes in Turkish waters. The Turkish coast is virtually under blockade.

The entire British Mediterranean fleet and part of the Atlantic fleet is off the Turkish coast. The British ships are lying near Constantinople, in the Sea of Marmora, off Hanaki in the Dardanelles, off Kumkaleh at the entrance to the Turkish straits, off Smyrna, and a few are cruising farther south in the region of Adalia and Cyprus.

There has been a steady flow of British troops eastward although not all are destined for Chanak and Constantinople. Some are going to Mesopotamia, (where the Turks are threatening land invasion), others to India and some to China.

The dreadnaught King George has joined the British fleet in Turkish waters.
